TURKO-ITALIAN WAR IS ENDED; ARMISTICE IS DECLARED TODAY

GERMANY TAKES HAND IN PEACE ARRANGEMENTS

No Further Hostilities Will Take Place, According to Dispatch from Berlin

UNOFFICIALLY PROCLAIMED

Statement from High Official Source Settles Fear of International Struggle

BERLIN, Oct. 11. — An armistice has been arranged between Italy and Turkey, according to a statement from a high official source here today. According to this statement peace has been arranged mainly through the efforts of Germany and, while it will not be officially proclaimed, no further hostilities will take place.

DES MOINES STRIKE MAY BE CALLED OFF

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11.—The Des Moines street car strike, which was to have begun at 5:00 o'clock this morning, has been indefinitely postponed and probably will never take place. Failure of the two arbitrators named to select a third arbitrator, led to the call. Then the arbitrators selected ex-State Treasurer. Gilbertson, but he could not serve for two weeks, and the strike was called again. At a mass meeting early today it was decided to try to get Gilbertson at once, or to name some other arbitrator. Cars were being sent to the barns when the strike order was rescinded.

RAILROAD STRIKERS STAND BY THEIR GUNS

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 11.—Although the railway officials claim that the systems federation strike is nearing its close, the strikers themselves grimly assert that the roads will find them able and willing to hold out much longer.

"We have received no overtures from the company as yet," said one of the strike leaders today, "and we will make no effort to compromise until we do hear from them. They know our terms and we are better able to get along without them than they are without us."

No disturbance has been reported along the strike belt, the strikers being content to await developments.

VERMONT TOWN IS AROUSED BY KILLING

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 11. — The state authorities will demand that the federal government remove the Tenth cavalry, a negro regiment, from Fort Ethan Allen, as the result of yesterday's shooting affray, when a trooper ran amuck, killing a fellow trooper and a woman, and mortally wounding another woman. All involved were negroes.

400 MOORS REPORTED SLAIN IN BATTLE

MADRID, Oct. 11.—The Spanish troops are meeting with most determined resistance from the Moors at Melilla and several pitched battles have been fought, according to official dispatches received here today. Since the last outbreak, two weeks ago, the Spanish commander reports that the Moors have lost 400 killed and 600 wounded. The total Spanish casualties are given as 240.

NEGROES DRIVEN FROM TOWN

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 11—Following a bitter race war here in which two ngeroes were killed, the whites today burned all negro residences and stoned the blacks out of town.

CROWDS BESIEGE COURTROOM FOR M'NAMARA TRIAL

Accused Brothers Brought from Jail; Both Express Confidence in Acquittal

ASK FOR CHANGE OF JUDGES

Allege Bordwell's Action in Attempting to Force Defense to Reveal Plan Is Illegal

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 11.—Enormous crowds besieged the court room today at the formal opening of the trial of the McNamaras charged with the destruction of the Times building, causing the death of twenty-one persons, on October 10, 1910. All entrances were guarded and only those with credentials were permitted to enter.

The court room is located on the eighth floor of the million odllar Hall of Records, and the room was mostly occupied by the desks of newspaper reporters.

The McNamara brothers were brought from the jail, handcuffed to the deputies and guarded by city policemen. They expressed confidence in the outcome. Both men have been much changed by their incarceration, especially James, who had lost his former haggard appearance. His clothing was carefully brushed and his linen immaculate.

John, however, was the cynosure of all eyes. He is heavily built, with his long gray tinged hair thrown back on his forehead and his clear cut, cameo-shaped face expressive of the highest intelligence.

John Not Worying

He smiled and nodded at acquaintances among the newspaper men, and said: "I have gained fifteen pounds during my confinement and it does not look as though I am worrying much, does it?"

Judge Walter Bordwell, presiding at the trial, is noted as a strict disciplinarian and today the proceedings moved rapidly as soon as court opened. The roll of the fifty-four remaining venire was called.

The defense then presented the affidavits supporting its formal motion for a change of judges. The affidavits were sworn to by both McNamara brothers and alleged bias and prejudice on the part of Judge Bordwell. The court listened intently especially to that part where it was alleged that his action in trying to force Attorney Harrington of counsel for the defense, to reveal to the grand jury the lines of the defense, was unprecedented and utterly illegal. When the reading was concluded the court immediately denied the motion. The defense excepted to this ruling and the first vital step by Attorney Darrow had been taken. The defense alleges that Bordwell's action in disregarding the affidavits of prejudice is certain ground for reversal in case of conviction.

Demands Separate Trials

With this matter out of the way the defense formally announced its demand for separate trials for John and James McNamara. This right was based on the California code which, however, gives the district attorney the right to elect which case shall be tried first.

There was a brief interruption while the attorneys conferred in an effort to determine which defendant should face the court first.

Neither the state nor defense expects much from the veniremen in court today, although it is expected that the attitude of the court would be developed during their examination, as he is the sole referee of questions of prejudice and other causs.

At the opening of the trial, Attor-

Will Try James First

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 11.—James B. McNamara will be tried first for murder in connection with the blowing up the Los Angeles Times building.

This was decided today when Judge Walter Bordwell, presiding in the case, sustained a motion for the defense to try James and John McNamara separately. Having the right to elect which defendant's fate should be decided, District Attorney Fredricks announced that he would call James ahead of his brother.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much temperature.

For Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa: Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Weather Notes

The weather is generally cloudy from the Mississippi river to the New England states with rain in the middle Atlantic states and fog in the upper Mississippi valley and at a few lake stations. Light rain has occurred in the north Pacific states and heavy showers in Idaho and southern Montana. It is snowing this morning at Helena and Yellowstone. The temperature changes have been small as a rule in all sections.

The pressure is moderately high over the eastern half of the country and also in the north Pacific states and relatively low in the plains states and Rocky mountain region.

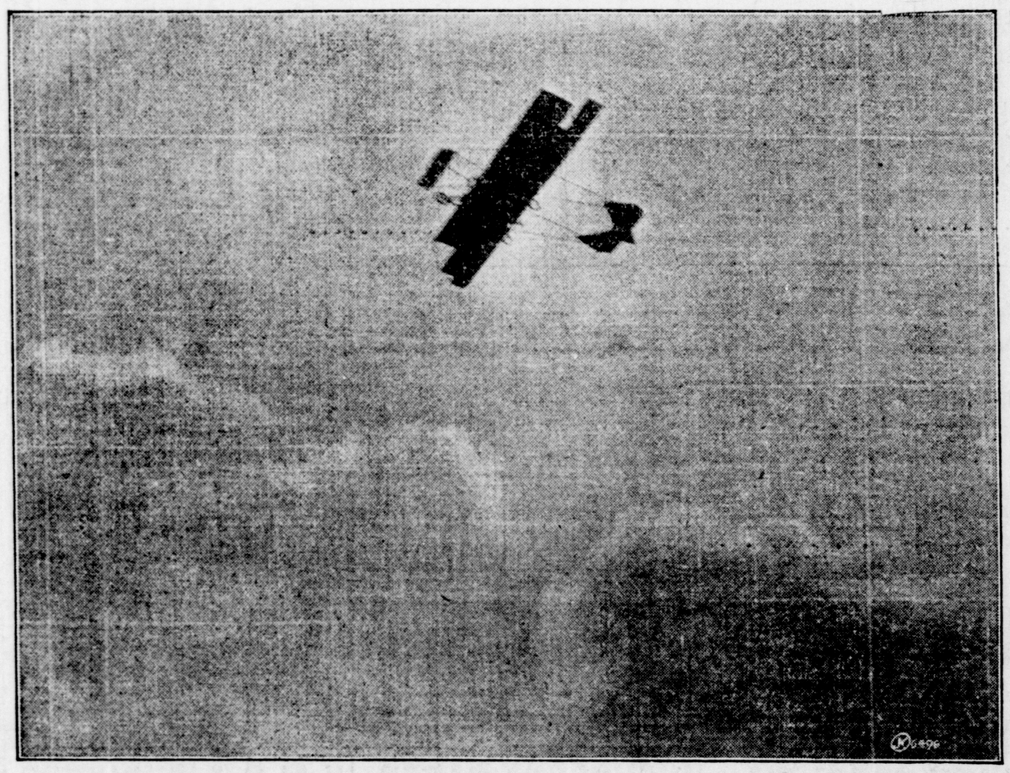

These conditions indicate generally fair weather in this section for tonight and Thursday with no decided change in temperature.

AREOPLANE ARRIVES AS CITY AND COUNTRY FOR MILES AROUND PREPARES TO MAKE A HOLIDAY AT TRIBUNE'S AVIATION MEET

A WONDERFUL PHOTOGRAPH

BEST OF FLIGHT TO BE SEEN ONLY IN FAIR GROUNDS

Manager Gammon Says the Public Now Understands This and People Flock to Aviation Field

"You needn't worry about people staying outside the fair grounds and 'piking,'" said Robert T. Gammon of the Curtis Exhibition company's staff of managers, today.

Mr. Gammon was discussing The Tribune's aviation meet which will take place tomorrow.

"People have learned that they can't see the most interesting features of a flight without being in the grounds," continued Mr. Gammon, "and the small admission fee don't keep them out. This is especially true in towns that have had previous flights. In these towns people who tried to see the flight from the outside at the first meet, never fail to get inside at the second meet.

Want to See Machine

"In the first place, the machine itself is a great curiosity. People realize this and are willing to pay the price of admission to examine it first hand. We assemble it on the grounds in a conspicuous place, and give people a chance to see and understand it. I notice you have prepared a description of the machine Robinson will fly in for publication today. I am glad of this, as it will help people to understand. Your subscribers should read it with care.

"Further, it is now a matter of common knowledge that the most interesting feature of the flight are the start and the landing. These can only be seen inside the grounds.

The Start a "Wonder"

"The aeroplane starts up the track in a sprint of several hundred feet, and must attain a speed of from forty to sixty miles an hour before it takes the air. That swift rush, the gradual lifting of the front plane, and then the bird-like swoop toward the clouds, is the most exciting moment in the meet.

The Swoop to Earth

"The landing of the machine is equally interesting. You'll stand up in your seat when the big bird shoots earthward as though it were about to be dashed to kindling. But the man at the wheel eases her down and takes the track with scarcely a jar, the plane gliding along the ground until it finally stops."

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

The Tribune delivery will be delayed tomorrow in order to permit the carrier boys to see the Aviation Meet. The city edition will be published at 2 p. m.

AVIATION PROGRAM

HUGH ROBINSON, daring aerialist, in at least three separate flights at Inter-state Fair Grounds tomorrow.

(1) Trial Flight.
(2) Cross Country Flight.
(3) Altitude Flight.

The first flight will be made at 3.30 p. m. In connection with the flights such features as the spectacular "Spiral Glide" and "Vol-planing" will be given.

NOTICE—This program is tentative, and is subject to weather conditions. The best exhibition consistent with conditions will be given. Remember, however, that ROBINSON has flown where all others have failed, that he is the best "bad weather man" in the business, and that he flew for President Taft IN A GALE two weeks ago.

Hugh Robinson Escort For President Taft In Missouri

President Taft's trip through the west was marked by a new and unique manner of greeting his arrival at Sedalia, Mo. The president, who was a guest of the state fair, was met by Aviator HUGH ROBINSON, The Tribune's aviator, flying a Curtiss biplane, several miles outside of the city. Robinson escorted the president's train to the fair grounds.

When the president had alighted from his train and Aviator Robinson had come down inside the fair grounds, the aviator was presented to the president, who warmly congratulated him and thanked him for having provided the most up-to-date method of greeting. The president reminded Robinson that this was the first time that an aeroplane had been out as an official escort to the president of the United States.

Robinson's flight was made in a gale, the wind blowing probably thirty miles an hour. In spite of this, however, the aviator went out about ten miles, met the special train, over the Missouri Pacific railroad, carrying President Taft, turned about and flew immediately above it until it had reached the state fair grounds where the president was greeted by a tremendous crowd.

How Biplane Hugh Robinson Will Fly Tomorrow Is Made

Following is an expert description of the Curtiss biplane which HUGH ROBINSON will fly in The Tribune's aviation meet tomorrow. People should read it carefully in order to understand the machine when they examine it in the interstate fair grounds tomorrow:

This Curtiss biplane which, by untiring experimentation, Mr. Curtiss has developed for the most practical uses. It is a duplicate of the machine which he recently sold to the United States government for use in the army, the war department having selected it as the safest and most efficient modern flying machine. The machine is the best speciment of the general type known as "biplanes," since there are two sets of wings, or surfaces, one being directly above the other.

The woodwork of the Curtiss flyer is almost entirely of selected spruce of highest quality, all parts bearing severe strains laminated. The propeller, especially, is a fine piece of laminated work, being built up of from twelve to eighteen layers of thinly cut wood, while the posts of the central section are made up of

ROBINSON ARRIVES TONIGHT

Famous Aviator Will Come on Fast Mail Prepared for Three Separate Flights

U. S. Department of Agriculture. Weather Bureau.
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.
October 11, 1911.

For La Crosse and vicinity—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin — Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

All is in readiness for The Tribune's Aviation Meet, which will take place at the Inter-state fair grounds at 3:30 tomorow afternoon.

Robert J. Gammon, manager for the meet, arrived here from Davenport at 6 o'clock last night, bringing with him J. H. Stalker and C. E. Clark, expert mechanicians.

The Curtiss biplane in which HUGH ROBINSON will make his flights, arrived this morning at 10:30 by Wells-Fargo express. It was taken to the fair grounds and assembled by Messrs. Stalker and Clark, and tested thoroughly to see that it was in perfect condition.

Manager Gammon and Mr. Burgess went to the fair grounds early today to order the necessary preparation of the ground. Mr. Gammon pronounced the conditions ideal for the flight.

Sure to Fly.

"Barring very nasty weather," he said, "you can count on the fulfillment of the three-flight program. The Curtiss aeroplane is not a 'fair weather' machine. It will fly in any but the worst weather, and HUGH ROBINSON is the surest birdman in the business. He flew for the president in Missouri recently in a thirty-mile wind. He'll fly, rain or shine."

Robinson Here Tonight.

HUGH ROBINSON will arrive in the city on the Fast Mail of the St. Paul system at 11 o'clock tonight. He is giving an exhibition flight in Minneapolis today.

A curious gathering watched the aeroplane loaded and taken to the fair grounds, and all during the afternoon people loitered about the fair ground entrances to get a glimpse of the machine and the experts at work.

Closing Is General.

La Crosse institutions will close quite generally for the meet, although no specific arrangement was made. Sixty North side business men signed an agreement to close, and that section of the city will turn out en masse.

Requests for a "day off" at the La Crosse Rubber Mills resulted in Superintendent Albert Funke proposing that the force go to work at 5 o'clock Thursday morning, and close at 1 o'clock. A "straw vote" was taken, and of the 273 hands now working all but seven voted in favor of the plan.

Many Plants Close

The great plant of the La Crosse Plow company, employing over 400 hands, announced this morning that it would close for the aviation meet. The John C. Burns Fruit House is running a display advertisement announcing its closing for the occasion. Among the other plants that have already announced their closing are Martin Bros., the Funke Candy Co., Star Knitting works and Inland

A LAUGHING BILL AT THE MAJESTIC

All Features of Program, Which Starts Thursday, Guaranteed Cure for the Blues

UNCLE SETH'S VISIT GREAT

Is to Be Featured Here and Has "Made Good" in Every Big Vaudeville Center

You will laugh with tears in your eyes.

An all star laughing show, every act one of comedy, and each one a feature attraction, will make up the greatest laugh producing show ever presented in this city. The management of the Majestic has spared no expense in selecting acts, which would keep the adience in a constant uproar beginning with the Thursday matinee.

The Byrne, Golson Players, in a rural comedy playlet, "Uncle Seth's Visit," introducing songs and music, are a trio of concertina players and a big surprise, which will long be remembered by all who see it, is promised. The act has been arranged for laughing purposes only. As every character is an artist in his line, it is safe to state that this act will be one of the big hits of the season.

An act entirely different from all is the "Battle of No Where" as will be presented by Espe & Roth, comedy cannon ball manipulators. Although known as a pantomime act, it is mingled with excellent singing and an abundance of comedy, so different that the act stands in the foremost rank of laugh producers, and will have no trouble in keeping the audience in a constant uproar.

Black Face Comedian

As a black face comedian, Harry L. Webb, as "The Man Who Sings and Talks" is classed among the foremost. He is original, has a pleasant voice and an original way of delivering his material, says Miss Lesslie, one of Chicago's best critics on things theatrical.

Comedy Jugglers

Kipp and Kippy, a man and a lady, in a novelty juggling stunt, entirely different from all others, arranged for its laughing qualities and cleverness, will no doubt please immensely, as it comes highly recommended.

Eccentric Gymnasts

Alvin & Kenny in "Fun on the Flying Rings," are conceded to be about the cleverest comedy ring gymnasts before the public, their work is original and rapid, making it a most pleasing portion of the program.

The new picture subjects will be in keeping with the entire show for they have been selected on the strength of the good comedy.

CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, COATED TONGUE, HEADACHE OR BAD STOMACH

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. WILD ANIMALS FLEE FROM FLOOD

Brave Mankind in Terror-Stricken Flight from the Rising Waters in Lowlands

As a result of the flood which did so much damage to Black River Falls last week, the woods in the vicinity of Lytles and Midway were flooded and the animals inhabiting that region were forced to seek safety in some other place.

Dr. H. C. Evenson, who was at Lytles last Saturday, says that while the party there was eating supper that evening the water raised eight inches in twenty minutes with the result that all the woods on both sides of the C. & N. W. right of way in that vicinity were quickly flooded. The water kept on rising at an alarming rate.

When the woods became flooded, the animals which made their homes there were forced to seek places of safety and as the Northwestern right of way was the only dry place, because it was higher than the adjoining ground, they naturally went there. In a short time a fox was seen there, together with numerous rabbits, ground hogs and muskrats.

"One could easily have killed many of these animals with stones," said Dr. Evenson, "but as the season for rabbits does not open until October 10 this was impossible."

This flood occurred between the two Northwestern bridges between Midway and Tank Lake, where there was a great deal of water in the woods. Under these bridges the water flowed in rushing torrents according to eye witnesses.

"In a short time one could take a boat and paddle all over in the woods which were then covered with water," said Dr. Evenson. "One man was paddling around in the newly formed lake when he saw a rabbit perched on the branch of a tree. He paddled up to the tree, took the rabbit off the branch and rowed away thinking to take the animal to shore with him. However, he had gone but a short distance when the rabbit jumped from the boat and swam away."

NORTH CAROLINA IS FOR WILSON

Sentiment in Tar Heel State Is Overwhelmingly for the Princetonian

The following is from The Wilmington (N. C.) Star:

When a man is in North Carolina he is in the Wilson country. In his travels from the sea to the mountains he will be in a state which is for Woodrow Wilson for the democratic nomination for the presidency. North Carolina will send a Wilson delegation to the national democratic convention, and we say so because the sentiment seems to be overwhelmingly in favor of the former president of Princeton university.

Naturally Wilmington is for Wilson because it probably has a larger claim on him than any other place in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina or Georgia, in all of which states he spent much of his youth. In Wilmington, while his beloved father, the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, was pastor of the First Presbyterian church, he spent years of his youth in this city, was a school boy here, and was the companion of the Cape Fear boys. Naturally the love for the Rev. Dr. Wilson, himself a profound scholar and theologian, draws our people toward his distinguished son. Personal sentiment and friendship for Dr. Wilson on his own account, makes Wilmington a Wilson City, but over and above it all is the popular knowledge of Woodrow Wilson's great ability, his eminence as a scholar, his lofty character, and his profound integrity. His career has been watched, and, added to all his qualifications in his ultimate display of statesmanship of high order and his proven capability as a civil leader of great force and influence of national scope. North Carolina is for Woodrow Wilson because it knows him as a great man, eminently qualified by patriotism and all the qualities that emphasize his eligibility for the presidency of a nation which needs just such a man at its head at this period of its history.

INSURGENT PAPER PRAISES WILSON

The Wisconsin Farmer Epitomizes the Splendid Work Done by Princetonian

Under the heading, "The Men of the Hour," The Wisconsin Farmer makes a strong attack on the policies of President Taft and says the time has come for a change. After praising the progressive policies of Senator La Follette, the editor says:

The ranks of democracy likewise hold a man whom the people have trusted and can trust still further. Governor Woodrow Wilson is the best example of the scholar in politics this nation has ever seen. His advent into the political arena is the best sign of the purification and the elevation of politics that the country has witnessed in many decades. Governor Wilson was educated for the law, but college work claimed him many years. He became president of Princeton university and made that splendid institution of higher learning a place where the poor boy has the same opportunities as the rich. He stamped his imprint on the minds of thousands of young folks whom he sent out to do the work of the world. And then the marvel came. This man who acknowledged no master was made governor of the state of New Jersey, a state ruled by bosses, the home of the nation's biggest trusts and corporations, a state where the word of the few was the political rule of the many. What did he do? He sent the bosses about their private business, he reformed the corrupt practices of an enthralled state, he gave to the people the most democratic rights of good government enjoyed by any state, with the single exception of Oregon. To a state formerly ruled by trusts he gave laws compelling primary elections, placing the reins of government in the hands of the people, giving to the workingman that protection against capital which is his due, holding the politics-dominating railroads down to the task of transporting the people rather than governing them. Woodrow Wilson looms larger day by day in the ranks of democracy, for he is man of the people and serves his fellows well.

Y. M. C. A. BUSINESS CLUB AT BANQUET

Dr. H. F. Kallenberg, of Chicago, Principal Speaker at Big Booster Meeting

"Good health is the rockbed of the business man's success and conservation of the public health is absolutely necessary if the nation is to maintain its present position in the affairs of the world," was the declaration of Dr. H. F. Kallenberg, superintendent of the department of physical training of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., in a speech before the Business Men's club at their second annual banquet at the Y. M. C. A. banquet hall last night.

The banquet was attended by about seventy-five of the business men of La Crosse and was given for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm over the Business Men's gymnasium class which is about to start a new season's work. The banquet which was an informal affair amply accomplished its purpose and a large number made known their intentions of joining the class.

Emphasizing the benefits of play as a factor in the preservation of youthful vigor and the ability to make good, Dr. Kallenberg said that play not only is the means of prolonging physical life but it also is the means of molding and strengthening character. He said that the rules and standards that govern play are the same that are used in the business world. He argued that if a boy was taught to use questionable methods to win his game he would carry those same methods into practice in after life, believing that as the struggle for success is, in a manner, a great game, unfair advantages will help in his ultimate success.

Dr. Kallenberg made an eloquent plea for clean sportsmanship both in play and in the more serious world of business and politics. He said that every baseball player that "cut a base" when the umpire was not looking, cut more from his character than he did from his trip around the diamond.

He said that a man could find out more about the character of a casual acquaintance in a five minutes competitive game than he could in five years of other means of contact. He urged the benefits of the business men's gym class not only for its physical benefits but for its social feature, declaring that men formed close friendships in their moment's recreation.

Dr. Kallenberg was strong in his praise of the Y. M. C. A. as a factor in the raising of the business moral standards of the community. His speech was closely followed throughout and he was heartily applauded when he finished.

He was followed by Judge John Brindley who gave a short talk on the work and needs of the local organization. Judge Brindley declared that he believed the Y. M. C. A. is the greatest single force in the raising of moral standards in the nation and that it should receive every encouragement by the business men.

George Burton, president of the First National bank, A. C. Gran, secretary of the La Crosse Y. M. C. A. and S. A. Boyd, physical instructor, were the other speakers of the evening.

The banquet was served on three long tables in the banquet hall and while not an elaborate affair was tastily arranged and enjoyed by all.

Every Man Who Drinks or is Abdicted to the Use of Drugs can be Easily and Quickly Cured at the Neal Institute, Milwaukee

The habitual use of liquors or drugs is altogether bad. The drink or drug victim finds every avenue of employment closed to him. To the business man this condition means ruin; it robs the professional man of his talents and his reputation; it undermines the health and destroys the morals of the average working man and takes from him his earning capacity. Homes are broken up, the wives and children suffer and are even in danger.

That excessive drinkers cannot quit the habit without medical help has been proven beyond a question of doubt. Again and again they "swear off," but the torments they suffer, attending the effort, always take them back to their old ways. Alcoholism or the drink habit is caused by the accumulation of alcoholic poison in the system taken on too fast for nature to expel. It is this poison which causes the intense craving which only more liquor or drugs, whichever the case may be, can only temporarily satisfy.

The treatment originated by Dr. Benjamin E. Neal is composed of pure, harmless vegetable medicines taken through the mouth and never by hypodermic injections. The treatment is not severe; on the contrary, it is so gentle that a child could take it with absolute safety. It is guaranteed harmless and quick in its results. The Neal treatment not only destroys the craving for liquor and drugs, but in addition it restores the weakened system to a vigorous condition. Hundreds of drinking men and women have found that the Neal three-day treatment for the drink and drug habit is the easiest, quickest and most positive cure known.

At the Neal Institute, in Milwaukee, each patient is at all times under the personal care of regular physicians and attendants and they enjoy all the privacy and comfort of a first-class home, club or hotel. Names are never divulged. A personal call at the Neal Institute is most desirable, but if that is not convenient, complete information and advice will be furnished prospective patients or their relatives, upon application, by mail, to the Neal Institute, 444 Cass street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MERE MAN SUCCUMBS TO MANICURE GIRLS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — Declaring manicure girls to be "grafters," obtaining money under false pretences, E. B. Martin, a Washington business man, has urged the district authorities to require such young women to pass examinations to prove that they "know at least as much about polishing nails as smiling at customers."

"Dozens of girls in Washington barber shops are butchering men's hands and calling it 'manicuring,'" said Martin. "A man goes into a barber shop and there finds a petite maid who has as many different kinds of smiles as a candidate out for a second term. It is but a few minutes before he finds himself succumbing to her charms while she is going through the pretense of manicuring his nails."

The district officals shiel at Martin's proposition. One of the comfissioners said he feared there would be too many anxious to serve on the examining boards.

PROHIBITION RALLY PROGRAM ARRANGED

Following is the program that has been arranged for the big political raly of the prohibitionist party that will be held in the old Y. M. C. A. hall Friday, October 13:

Opening exercises at 11 a. m., with a twenty minute musical program by the Ricketts Family orchestra.

Organization for the day; appointment of committees.

Experience meeting participated in by delegates. Short, snappy speeches by Merrill, Smith, Larsen, Steadwell and others who may be present.

More music and readings by the Ricketts.

Basket dinner at 12:15, followed by a prohibition sociable. Bring your baskets full.

Afternoon session at 2:00, beginning with another short musical program.

Presentation of resolutions by the committee. To be discussed and adopted.

State Secretary Taynton will then open the prohibition congress which makes such a great hit wherever it is held. An hour of constant interest and logical development.

Miscellaneous business. Plans for the future and short speeches after this.

At 8:00 p. m. an entertainment by the Ricketts Family orchestra.

Every one who attends the convention during the day will receive a complimentary ticket to the evening entertainment, visitors as well as delegates.

WILL URGE COUNCIL TO CLOSE UP STREET

It was announced this morning that William Doerflinger, president of the board of trade, has appointed Frank Winter, T. S. Hebberd and R. H. Worth a committee to appear before the council next Friday and urge the closing of lower Badger street for the La Crosse Plow company.

President Doerflinger has appointed Judge Ray S. Reid, formerly of La Crosse, but now residing in Madison, a local delegate to represent the board of trade at the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway convention which meets in Chicago Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Judge Reid's credentials were forwarded to him today and it is hoped that he will consent to be a delegate.

BABY PITIFUL SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

Completely Covered. Bandaged from Head to Foot. Dared Not Wash Him. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 4 Weeks and He Was Cured.

"A few days after birth we noticed an inflamed spot on our baby's hip which soon began spreading until baby was completely covered even in his eyes, ears and scalp. For eight weeks he was bandaged from head to foot. He could not have a stitch of clothing on. Our regular physician pronounced it chronic eczema. He is a very able physician and ranks with the best in this locality, nevertheless, the disease began spreading until baby was completely covered. He was losing flesh so rapidly that we became alarmed and decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"Not until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment could we tell what he looked like, as we dared not wash him, and I had been putting one application after another on him. On removing the scale from his head the hair came off, and left him entirely bald, but since we have been using Cuticura Soap and Ointment he has as much hair as ever. Four weeks after we began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was entirely cured. I don't believe anyone could have eczema worse than our baby.

"Before we used the Cuticura Remedies we could hardly look at him, he was such a pitiful sight. He would fuss until I would treat him, they seemed to relieve him so much. Cuticura Soap and Ointment stand by themselves and the result they quickly and surely bring is their own recommendation." (Signed) Mrs. T. B. Rosser, Mill Hall, Pa., Feb. 20, '11.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 29A, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

CALL THIS "BLUFF"

It is little likely that when Senator Stephenson was pouring out money to help the campaign of Robert M. La Follette as a candidate for governor, the thought ever occurred to him that a time would come when he would be called to account for money he had disbursed in defraying the expenses of his own election, and that Senator La Follette would be accredited in the popular mind with instigating the official inquiry.—Evening Wisconsin.

Anti-La Follette newspapers have long made a practice of hinting at a huge scandal hidden in the records of Mr. Stephenson's financial support of the progressive movement in Wisconsin. They are not entirely to blame in the matter, as their innuendo is supported by an alleged assertion of Mr. Stephenson that "La Follette cost me half a million dollars."

The Tribune has what seems to be reliable information that Mr. Stephenson's contributions to the progressive cause totaled less than $9,000 in the entire ten years of his "insurgency," that of this sum $1,000 was contributed to the first presidential campaign of Senator La Follette, and that the remainder was given to the regular republican state committee to be used for general campaign purposes.

It is assumed that Mr. Stephenson's charge that "La Follette cost me half a million" is based upon a disposition to charge his investment in the Free Press up to La Follette. If this sum is to be charged to La Follette, WHY DOES NOT MR. STEPHENSON DELIVER THE FREE PRESS TO SENATOR LA FOLLETTE?

We do not think a man who paid $107,000 to conduct one personal campaign for himself should be permitted to make capital out of his having contributed $9,000 in ten years to a party organization. This "bluff" should be "called." We hope the senate committee will find time to bring out the facts.

THEN AND NOW

The Oshkosh Northwestern voices "the indignation and resentment of the entire nation" at the reputed plot to assassinate the president in Kansas. * * * There are in this country many minds that are not responsible, minds that linger on the border of insanity and are peculiarly susceptible to the suggestion that they and the people are the victims of evil rulers.

If, instead of puzzling its head about the immediate state of mind of prospective presidential assassins, the Northwestern should turn its attention to some of the cartoons and editorials on President Taft which have appeared in La Follette's Magazine for a year or more, it would find something to talk about that was of real importance to its theme.—Free Press.

'Member when The Free Press was a howling disciple of La Follette anarchy inciting the minds of those who "linger on the borders of insanity" to atrocious deeds?

Is the "calm and unprejudiced" tone the Free Press now affects the product of spiritual conversion, or is it due to the fact that a La Follette radical became a Taft conservative, said convert being one Isaac Stephenson whose fame is now being heralded from the hall in which certain corruption charges are being heard?

The Free Press knows from its own past that men and publications not fettered by selfish private interests happily have a tendency to speak the truth about our public officials. In the United States it is not accepted as true that "The King can do no wrong."

"SHAM RECIPROCITY"

In an article entitled, "The Reciprocity Illusion," published in the current "Success Magazine," Amos Pinchot tears the mask from that ill-fated political fiasco. The writer sustains his contention that the bill meant free trade for the big interests and higher prices for the general run of people by such paragraphs as the following:

"From the fact that the 'reciprocity' bill provides for a duty of one and one-quarter cents per pound on dressed beef, it follows that packers are protected against present or future Canadian competition—in fact much more thoroughly protected than under the Payne-Aldrich tariff—as under 'reciprocity' the duty on the raw materials which they use is abolished, while the duty against Canadian packed goods is practically unchanged. Thus 'reciprocity,' instead of being a reduction in protection for the manufacturing interests, practically gives them greater protection and higher profits.

"The consumer is denied that benefit which might now or in the future accrue to him as a result of competition between Canadian and American packers. He appears to be left exactly where he was.

"Again, take the case of wheat and flour. From the fact that wheat comes in free it follows that the millers, commonly referred to as the 'flour trust,' benefit by whatever reduction in the price of wheat may result, now or in the future, from competition between Canadian and American wheat raisers. The consumer does not eat wheat, but he does eat flour. Therefore, if the consumer benefits at all through cheaper wheat it is only indirectly and on the doubtful theory that the 'flour trust' will reduce the price of flour when it is able to secure its raw material cheaper. The farmer who raises wheat must grow and sell his wheat in competition with the Canadian farmer, whatever that competition may be at present or in the future.

"The same facts which apply to beef on the hoof and dressed beef, and wheat and flour, apply to schedule after schedule of this extraordinary bill. The manufacturer gets his raw material free at the expense of the farmer, and the consumer is discriminated against with a regularity that is almost ludicrous.

"Rye is free, but on rye flour there is a duty of fifty cents a barrel.

"Oats free. Oat meal and rolled oats fifty cents per hundred pounds.

"Corn free. Corn meal twelve and one-half cents per hundred pounds.

"Hogs are free. Pork, ham and bacon one and one-quarter cents a pound.

"Sheep and lambs are free. Mutton and lamb, one and one-half quarter cents per pound.

"Practically all the grains are free, and practically all products of grains in the forms used for foods, including all cereal foods, are dutiable."

It will be noted from the context that this article was written after the United States had ratified the treaty and before its defeat in the Canadian election.

OF "THE SAME" OPINION

Is The Journal "safe and sane" on the Stephenson issue? Its readers have learned to value its opinions, and usually it is not slow in expressing them. But it isn't in the habit of confining its editorial comment upon a big incident to an expression of confidence in a reactionary committee. This hearing has been in progress nearly a week, and The Journal has not mentioned it editorially. Readers don't want The Journal to indulge in "hysterics." They just want to know what it now thinks about Stephenson and the Stephenson case. Honest, now, what is your candid and unemotional opinion? — La Crosse Tribune, Progressive Rep.

The Journal's opinion of Isaac Stephenson and his methods has not undergone any change whatever, but we see no occasion to repeat our opinion from day to day. The Journal is trying to run a newspaper, not a harp of one string.—Milwaukee Journal.

Yes, but what IS your opinion?

Breaks a Cold in a day.

And Cures Any Cough that is Curable. Noted Physician's Formula

Get from any druggist "Two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Mix these with half a pint of good whiskey. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime. Smaller doses to children according to age." Any one can prepare this at home. This is the best formula known to science. There are many cheaper preparations of large quantity, but it don't pay to experiment with a bad cold. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw top case. If the druggist does not have in stock he will get it quickly from his wholesale house.

Too Much for Elizabeth

Little Elizabeth and her mother were having luncheon together, and the mother, who always tried to impress facts upon her young daughter, said:

"These little sardines, Elizabeth, are sometimes eaten by the larger fish."

Elizabeth gazed at the sardines in wonder, and then asked:

Cumbering Wrinkles and Double Chin Quickly Removed

The cause of wrinkles is well known to few outside the medical profession, and a real doctor, although he knows what causes wrinkles, does not prescribe for them. He is so absorbed with stomachs and livers and appendixes that a few wrinkles, more or less, make him say "Pooh!" But we women know how important wrinkles and enlarged pores and blackheads are to us. Why—they are almost a matter of life and death to us, sometimes. Anyway, we are glad to find out that thermodized jelly will quickly and permanently remove them. Just get an ounce and a half from your druggist and rub half a teaspoonful into your face every day. It penetrates through the outer skin and reaches the fibrous tissue beneath, needing heat-energy and nourishment. Pure thermodized jelly will very quickly bring about really marvelous results.—Physical Century Magazine.

CHAPTER VI.
Betty Sets Out for Tennessee.

Bruce's first memories had to do with long nights when he perched beside his father on the cabin roof of their keel-boat and watched the stars or the blurred line of the shore where it lay against the sky, or the lights on other barges and rafts drifting as they were drifting, with their wheat and corn and whisky, to that common market at the river's mouth.

Bruce Carrington had seen the day of barge and raft reach its zenith, had heard the first steam packet's shrieking whistle which sounded the death-knell of the ancient order, though the shifting of the trade was a slow matter and the glory of the old did not pass over to the new at once, but lingered still in mighty fleets of rafts and keel-boats and in the Homeric carousals of some ten thousand of the half-horse, half-alligator breed that nightly gathered at New Orleans.

After the reading of the warrant that morning, Charley Balaam had shown Carrington the road to the Forks, assuring him when they separated that with a little care and decent use of his eyes it would be possible to fetch up there and not pass plumb through the settlement without knowing where he was.

He was on his way to Fayetteville, where he intended to spend the night, and perhaps a day or two in looking around, when the meeting with Betty and Murrell occurred. The girl's face remained with him. It was a face he would like to see again.

He was still thinking of the girl when he ate his supper that night at Cleggett's Tavern. Later, in the bar, he engaged his host in idle gossip. He had met a gentleman and a lady on the road that day! he wondered, as he toyed with his glass, if it could have been the Ferrises? Mounted? Yes, mounted. Then it was Ferris and his wife—or it might have been Captain Murrell and Miss Malroy. Miss Malroy did not live in that part of the country; she was a friend of Mrs. Ferris', belonged in Kentucky or Tennessee, or somewhere out yonder—at any rate she was bringing her visit to an end, for Ferris had instructed him to reserve a place for her in the north-bound stage on the morrow.

Carrington suddenly remembered that he had thought of starting north in the morning himself.

The stage left at six, and as Carrington climbed to his seat the next morning Mr. Cleggett was advising the driver to look sharp when he came to the Barony road, as he was to pick up a party there. It was Carrington who looked sharp, and almost at the spot where he had seen Miss Malroy the day before he saw her again, with Ferris and Judith and a pile of luggage bestowed by the wayside. Betty did not observe him as the coach stopped, for she was intent on her farewells with her friends. There were hasty words of advice from Ferris, prolonged good-bys to Judith, tears — kisses—while a place was being made for her many boxes and trunks. Carrington gathered that she was going north to Washington; that her final destination was some point either on the Ohio or Mississippi, and that her name was Betty. Then the door slammed and the stage was in motion again.

All through the morning they swung forward in the heat and dust and glare, and at midday rattled into the shaded main street of a sleepy village and drew up before the tavern where dinner was waiting for them.

Betty saw Carrington when she took her seat, and gave a scarcely perceptible start of surprise. Then her face was flooded with a rich color. This was the man who saw her with Captain Murrell yesterday! There was a brief moment of irresolution, and then she bowed coldly.

It was four days to Richmond. Four days of hot, dusty travel, four nights of uncomfortable cross-road stations, where Betty suffered sleepless nights and the unaccustomed pangs of early rising. She occasionally found herself wondering who Carrington was. She approved of the manner in which he conducted himself. She liked a man who could be unobtrusive.

The next morning he found himself seated opposite her at breakfast. He received another curt little nod, cool and distant, as he took his seat.

"You stop in Washington?" said Carrington.

Betty shook her head. "No, I am going on to Wheeling."

"You're fortunate in being so nearly home," he observed. "I'm going on to Memphis."

Betty exclaimed: "Why, I am going to Memphis, too!"

"Are you? By canal to Cumberland, and then by stage over the National Road to Wheeling?"

Betty nodded. "It makes one wish they'd finish their railroads, doesn't it? Do you suppose they'll ever get as far west as Memphis?" she said.

"They say it's going to be bad for river trade when they're built on something besides paper," answered Carrington. "And I happen to be a flatboat-man, Miss Malroy."

No more was said just then, for Betty became reserved and did not attempt to resume the conversation. A day later they rumbled into Washington, and as Betty descended from the coach Carrington stepped to her side.

"I suppose you'll stop here, Miss Malroy," he said, indicating the tavern before which the stage had come to a stand.

"Yes," said Betty briefly.

"If I can be of any service to you—" he began, with just a touch of awkwardness in his manner.

"No, I thank you, Mr. Carrington," said Betty quickly.

"Good night . . good-by." He turned away, and Betty saw his tall form disappear in the twilight.

CHAPTER VII.
The Fight at Slosson's Tavern.

A month and more had elapsed since Bob Yancy's trial. Just two days later man and boy disappeared from Scratch Hill. Murrell was soon on their trail and pressing forward in pursuit. Reaching the mountains, he heard of them first as ten days ahead of him and bound for West Tennessee; the ten days dwindled to a week, the week became five days, th five days three; and now as he emerged from the last range of hills he caught sight of them.

Yancy glanced back at the blue wall of the mountains where it lay along the horizon.

"Well, Nevvy," he said, "we've put a heap of distance between us and old Scratch Hill."

For the past ten days their journey had been conducted in a leisurely fashion. As Yancy said, they were seeing the world, and it was well to take a good look at it while they had a chance.

Suddenly out of the silence came the regular beat of hoofs. These grew nearer and nearer, and at last when they were quite close, Yancy faced about. Smiling Murrell reined in his horse.

"Why—Bob Yancy!" he cried in apparent astonishment.

"Yes, sir—Bob Yancy. Does it happen you are looking fo' him, Captain?" inquired Yancy.

"No—no, Bob. I'm on my way West."

Murrell slipped from his saddle and fell into step at Yancy's side as they moved forward.

HEIKE MUST GO TO JAIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Charles R. Heike, sugar magnate and former secretary of the American sugar refining company, lost his appeal in the U. S. circuit court of appeals today against the jail sentence of eight months imposed upon him by the circuit court. Unless the supreme court intervenes Heike will have to take up his residence on Blackwell's island. He was convicted of defrauding the government in the false weights customs scandal.

DES MOINES STRIKE CALLED.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11. — The executive council of the Des Moints street car union has called a strike, to become effective at 1:30 this morning, after the street car company had accepted as the third arbitrator the man named by the unions, G. S. Gilbertson, ex-state treasurer. The reason assigned by the union for going back on its proposition for Gilbertson's election was that he will be out of the city for two weeks.

MAINE EXPLOSION UNSOLVED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Reports received at the war department have eliminated the vague possibility that boiler explosion might have caused the wreck of the battleship Maine, according to officials. The possibility of a magazine explosion, however, remains, and the question whether this was caused by an explosion from the outside or from an accident within, is still unsolved.

How to Make Your Old Complexion New Again.

(Women's Fortnightly Journal)

The quickest and most natural way to renew an old complexion is to remove it. We all know that the outer skin should throw off the dead matter clogging the pores, of its own accord, but what with cosmetics, smoke, dirt, wind and all the other hardships we impose upon it, the outer skin becomes discouraged and only half performs its function of throwing off dead and disfiguring skin particles. The result is—pimples, sallowness, liver spots, etc., etc.

The only safe, as well as sure, proctss to clear the complexion of these blemishes is to apply pure coleated balsam at night. Get an ounce and a half from your druggist, and you will be delighted to see that it wastes no time in beginning its work of clearing and actually removing all blemishes from the skin. Your complexion can be kept clear and lovely by using coleated balsam, which invigorates, whereas the majority of cold creams and lotions clog and retard elimination of waste matter from the skin.

Wanted for Bridge

A Wall street man invited a bachelor friend to be one of a week-end party at his summer home in New Jersey, and said: "Be sure to bring your bathing suit, tennis racket, fishing tackle and golf clubs, for you may have use for all." The bachelor accepted the invitation, and on his return to New York wrote a note of thanks to his hostess, and to his host he sent a postcard with a picture of the Brooklyn bridge, under which he wrote:

When next you invite me, don't make a pretense
About racket and club, line or hook;
Just say: "Auction bridge—continuous performance,
But please don't forget your check book."

—New York Tribune.

Referred to a Higher Power

"My good friend," softly says the minister, leaning over the bedside, "I trust that all is well with your soul. May I ask what are your beliefs as to the next life?"

"I don't know," feebly answers the dying man. "You'll have to ask my wife. She has charge of my religious views."

Habitual

Here is a story which Baron Douse, the celebrated Irish judge, once told in that exaggerated Irish "brogue" which he loved to employ.

"I was down in Cork last month, holding assizes. On the first day, when the jury came in, the officer of the court said:

"'Gentlemen av the jury, ye'll take your accustomed plices, if ye plaze.'

"And may I never laugh," said the baron, "if they didn't all walk into the dock!"—London Globe.

Appreciation

"This beautiful weather," said the secretary of agriculture at a luncheon in Washington, "sends one in thought, at least, back to the farm. I heard of a farm the other day to which a certain congressman sent a gift of rare lily bulbs from the department. The farmer's wife acknowledged the gift thus: 'Dear Sir—Thank you for the particularly fine onions, which were greatly enjoyed with last evening's steak."—Washington Star.

Remarkable Acquaintance

Gadabout was boasting of his extensive acquaintance. No celebrity could be mentioned unknown to him. He was intimately acqainted with all of them. Finally Dobson inquired:

"Did you ever happen to meet the Siamese twins?"

Gadabout reflected a moment, and then said:

"Well, I am not quite sure that I met both of them, but I knew one of them very well."—Tit-Bits.

Meeting an Emergency

Lew Fields was discussing in his New York office his recent roundup of 2500 chorus girls.

"We treat our girls generously," he said. "That is why we can round up 2500 of them with such ease. The fact is, we could round up 25,000 chorus girls of exquisite beauty if we had need of that number."

The comedian chuckled.

"We don't treat our chorus girls," he said, "as Billy Bunkum treated his people. Billy, you know, was a manager in the '80s. Here is an example of his niggardly policy.

"'Billy,' said the leading man at a one-night stand. 'Bill, I want a dime.'

"'You are always howling for money,' said Billy. 'What do you want a dime for?'

"'I want it for a shave,' the leading man replied. 'How can I play Romeo tonight with eight days' black beard on my face?'

"Bunkum turned angrily away.

"'You'll get no money out of me,' he growled. 'We'll change tonight's bill to Othello.'"—Philadelphia Record.

Overtime

"When I was a young man," said Mr. Cumrox, "I thought nothing of working twelve or fourteen hours a day."

"Father," replied the young man with sporty clothes, "I wish you wouldn't mention it. Those non-union sentiments are liable to make you unpopular."—Washington Star.

Mrs. E. Rolsma made a business trip to Onalaska Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dokkuma spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. DeBoor and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Briggs and Mrs. A. Ross left for their home at Whitehall, Tuesday morning after spending several days with relatives.

Rickett's orchestra will give a concert Thursday evening, Oct. 12, in the Association Hall at Holmen. The entertainment given by these musicians this spring was well worth going to and a large audience is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bartholomew and family of Onalaska, Mrs. Will Moss and son of Campbell, also Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Briggs and daughter of Whitehall, were guests at the Brigg's home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Westerhouse and children of Brice Prairie were Sunday visitors with B. Mulder and family.

Mr. Bronno Mulder and daughter, Mabel, made a business trip to La Crosse Tuesday.

Word has been received of the serious illness of Mrs. Jewett Lund at Rochester, Minn. Mrs. Lund was formerly Miss Pearl Benson of Onalaska.

Miss Mabel Lund came down from Holmen to spend Sunday at home.

EXTEND "ALPHABET" ROAD

MANKATO, Minn., Oct. 11.—Superintendent Perkins of the St. Paul road the other day took an automobile ride from this city to St. Clair, twelve miles east, the present terminus of the Alphabet road, and this has given rise to a crop of rumors as to what the St. Paul is to do with the new line, which it recently took over. This line runs from Albert Lea to St. Clair and has been in operation a couple of years. It is rumored that the St. Paul will extend the line from St. Clair to this city and thence to Hutchinson and to Fargo and other North Dakota points. It is said that the surveys have already been made.

TO SUPPLY OWN ELECTRICITY

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 11. — The Winona Railway and Light company officials have made arrangements to operate the lighting and power plant here under its own steam indefinitely. Definite information was received last night from Clement C. Smith, receiver for the La Crosse Water Power company, to the effect that the damage at Hatfield will likely be repaired as soon as possible, but the operations will require months. The Winona plant will supply current only to this city.

KING DRAG USED IN CITY

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 11. — The experiment has been tried in Winona this summer of having one street, Wabasha, kept in repair entirely by the use of the King drag having been used after every rain and oftener when necessary. The result is that this street is now in the best repair of any of the dirt streets in the city, being almost entirely free from chuck holes. The experiment has worked so well that the use of the King drag may be extended to other streets in the city next year.

FOUR DIE IN FIRE.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Two men, one woman and a child were burned to death when the three story building occupied by Ed Kaloniski was wrecked by an explosion, later followed by fire. The dead are: N. Letuck, Mrs. Ed Kaloniski, Mary Kaloniski, aged 3, and an unknown man. The explosion is believed to have resulted from escaping gas.

Splendid for Old People

When the human system declines the accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatic pains in the joints, muscles and back. These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription which shows wonderful results even after the first few doses. It will eventually restore physical vigor. "One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint of high grade whiskey. This to be mixed and used in tablespoonful doses before each meal and at bed time. The bottle to be shaken each time." Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them for you. Any one can mix them.

WILSON TALKS AT MILWAUKEE SHOW

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 11. — That the American public can deliver itself from the grip of high sugar prices at its will was the statement of Secretary Wilson of the United States department of agriculture just before he spoke at the dairy show Tuesday night.

In the opinion of Secretary Wilson there are two things that can be done to insure stable sugar prices. "I think the law of supply and demand enters into the proposition," he said. 'If half the people would buy their sugar in the winter I think the price would be steadier."

But the great remedy lies in the production of more sugar, acording to the secretary, who has made a deep study of the sugar beet and beet sugar industries in the United States. He made the assertion that the United States are capable of producing enough sugar to feed the world and then not reach the limit of production.

"The American farmer can raise enough sugar beets to supply the whole world," said the secretary. "Colorado makes 200,000 tons of beet sugar per year. California makes even more. Michigan makes a large amount and Wisconsin makes a lot. We ought to make our own sugar. That's been my theory ever since I went into the department."

Housewives! Do a Washing Now in Less Than One Hour—

This sounds wonderful, but we have the machine to back it up. Here's an electric washer that runs with a minimum of power and frees you from washday slavery.

Makes a tub of clothes spotless in 15 minutes and cannot injure the finest fabric. Twirling doily forces water through the clothes. Corrugated sides and bottom of tub give just enough friction to force out the dirt.

You eliminate at least half your washday labor when you use electricity and an

AutoMatic Washer

Built especially for the housewife with electricity in the house. Not a mere hand machine with attachments, but it can be run by hand if current gives out. A big, modern, labor-saving invention that means much to tired women.

Saves Time and Labor

Just fill your tub and throw the starting lever. Then do other household work or rest for fifteen minutes while the machine automatically washes your clothes.

Wring by electricity. Nothing to do but feed in the clothes and if the wringer clogs a touch of the convenient lever instantly releases the rolls.

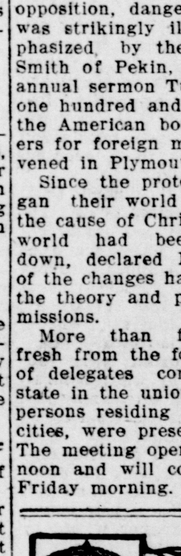

Makes Housework Easy

By means of the Universal Rod, a special automatic attachment, you can use the Automatic as a speed reducer and run churn, ice cream freezer, food chopper and other kitchen machinery by electricity.

Just like having another hired girl only the Automatic doesn't demand wages and never complains of overwork. Helps you do ALL your housework and makes your biggest washing easier than doing the breakfast dishes

Valuable Book Free

"How to Wash"—a priceless book of washing hints and recipes sent free to any address. Tells how to make clothes fire proof—how to wash lace and a hundred other facts of vital interest to those who wash.

Gives secrets and formulas of laundrymen and cleaners. Every woman who washes needs it.

MISSIONARIES HOLD LARGE CONVENTION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 11. — Growth of Christian activity and influence in the foreign mission fields, in the face of heartbreaking opposition, dangers and difficulties, was strikingly illustrated and emphasized by the Rev. Arthur H. Smith of Pekin, who preached the annual sermon Tuesday night at the one hundred and second meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, which convened in Plymouth church.

Since the protestant missions began their world wide campaign in the cause of Christian education the world had been turned upside down, declared Mr. Smith, but all of the changes had been justified by the theory and practice of foreign missions.

More than fifty missionaries, fresh from the foreign field; scores of delegates coming from every state in the union, and hundreds of persons residing in this and nearby cities, were present at the service. The meeting opened in the afternoon and will continue through to Friday morning.

ALASKA READER PRAISES TRIBUNE

"La Crosse is certainly going some and so is The Tribune," is the comment of Joseph Hendrichs, Nome, Alaska, in a letter to Mrs. John Wilhelm, 628 West avenue south, following the receipt of a copy of the Trade Area edition of the La Crosse Tribune.

Joseph Hendrichs, who was at one time a resident of La Crosse and is well known in this city, left here for Alaska thirteen years ago, where he has become interested in the mining business.

Mr. Hendrichs in his letter says: "The reading of The Tribune's Special has created a longing to see the old city again, and I have made up my mind to pay La Crosse a visit in the near future."

He also expressed himself as surprised and pleased with the progress of the city and complimented The Tribune publishers on the publication of the Trade Area edition.

The Tomah fair opened Tuesday at the grounds south of this city. This fair is the only one in Monroe county and it will be largely attended. Wednesday and Thurday will be the big days. There will be ball games on these days, Mauston vs. Kendall and Summitt vs. Wilton. Prof. G. C. Humphrey has been engaged to speak on "Good Roads." This fair is more of a home institution than in former years. School on Wednesday and Thursday will begin at 8 and close at 12.

A quiet wedding occurred Tuesday at the home of A. Parsneau, when he was married to Miss Eva Junson of New Lisbon. Rev. George B. Haskell performed the ceremony. The groom is a popular man residing three miles southwest of this city and the bride is a well known lady in this vicinity.

The first five weeks standings were given out in the high school Monday morning and it was found that out of seventy-six freshmen twenty-seven failed in thirty-five studies; of the fifty-three sophomores eight failed in eleven studies of forty-two; juniors, fourteen failed in eighteen studies and of thirty-five seniors four failed in nine subjects. Of the entire two hundred and siv pupils forty-three failed in one or more subjects. Parents of the pupils were notified if any standing was below seventy-five.

Swings have been erected on all the school grounds. Four have been placed in the Central school yard, two in the North and South primary. The children enjoy them very much and more will be erected in the future.

To Make Your Hair Soft, Bright and Fluffy

(Fashion's Guide)

"The reason many women find it difficult to arrange the coiffure pleasingly is because of the too-free use of wet shampoos, which make hair dull, brittle and 'stringy.'

"One of the most pleasing things with which to cleanse the scalp of impurities and keep the hair clean, fluffy and silky, is 4 ounces of either orris root or corn meal and 4 ounces of therox. Mix together and sprinkle a tablespoonful on the scalp, then brush thoroughly through the hair. This rids the hair and scalp of dust and dandruff, and a few minutes using tones the scalp and hair roots, causing the hair to grow soft, brilliant and easy to manage."

CAMDEN MISS HELPED BY CARDUI

Miss Wilson Suffered for Nine Years, but Finally Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui

Camden, Miss.—"About five years ago," says Miss W. E. Wilson, of this place, "I had to undergo an operation, and after that it hurt me to stand on my feet or walk much.

I had suffered, more or less, with womanly troubles, for more than nine years, and I was very weak and nervous.

As soon as I commenced to take Cardui, I felt better. Now I am not taking any medicine, for I don't need any.

Cardui has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. It is the grandest medicine for women that was ever made."

This remarkable letter, from a lady who has actually tried Cardui, ought surely to convince you of the genuine merit of this successful medicine, and induce you to give it a trial for your own troubles.

Cardui is the ideal remedy for all weak, suffering women, young or old.

Cardui acts specifically on the womanly constitution, preventing unnecessary pain, and building up strength where it is most needed. During the past 50 years, it has proven itself to be a reliable remedy for weak women. It has helped others, and should certainly help you. At all druggists. Try it.

PUBLIC DEBATE

Editor La Crosse Tribune:

Dear Sir: Relative to the discussion in regard to selling the property now used as a market place.

Don't think any fair minded person but considers that the location of a market right in the business and resident part of the city is entirely out of place, and also that the location of same on South Third street would be equally bad.

Now why not locate same on Front street, opposite the bridge approach? This location can be bought for less than one-half of the amount that could be received for the present market place, and would be a natural location for same. It would be situated right at the end of the bridge, at the place where all Minnesota trade enters the city, and convenient to all farmers surrounding La Crosse.

On the other hand, it would be so situated, that it would be convenient to all buyers in the city. As conditions are now, a business house in the city that buys farmers' products is compelled to have a buyer at the bridge approach, and also on the market.

Relative to the necessity of having a market place, and a good one, in the city, there is no question. If a farmer wants to sell any grain, livestock or other farm products, there would be the natural place to go, and there would be the place all buyers would congregate. As conditions are now, if a person wanted to sell a horse, and fifty people in the city wanted to buy one, there is no place where they could meet with certainty of getting together for a trade. Property of O. J. Sorensen could be bought, as he told the writer that he was cramped for room, and asked the council to vacate Mt. Vernon street for that reason, and he would build a larger and more commodious plant in another location, and vacant property across the street south, which together with the street would give a frontage on Front street of 258 feet by 150 feet to the alley, and if more ground would be needed, no doubt the property of the Segelke-Kohlhaus company on Second street could be purchased cheaply.

This property could be put in proper shape for a good, first class market place, with yards for livestock, and covered sheds for farmer' teams, and will say that I am convinced by twenty-six years of dealing with farmers, that it certainly would be apreciated, and one of the very best moves La Crosse could make to secure surrounding patronage of agricultural dealers, and at no cost to the city, they disposing of the present location, and putting the money received, or only part of it, into an up-to-date covered market place.

Yours truly,

ANDREW BOYD.

Editor Tribune:

Dear Sir: Regarding the market question, it is imperative that the city make no mistake regarding its proper disposition. It seems to be generally admitted that the present use of that half block for hay and wood is not beneficial to the business interests of the immediate community. Then what? Your suggestion of restricting its sale to first class retail stores would appear to be sound and proper.

The better the class of stores and business, the greater benefits to the city.

If an exchange of the places can be had with an immediate profit of $30,000, would not the additional taxes in ten years net the city over $100,000?

Has it been estimated how much property would be benefited by the proposed exchange to both the present adjacent property and that near the proposed site.

Property owners on South Third street were taxed a heavy expense in a new brick pavement a few years ago and want some appreciable benefit from it. Will this change help do it?

FOOTBALL DANCE

Friday evening the W. B. U. club will give a dance in the W. B. U. hall under the management of the Football Team and for the benefit of the football team, and the students invite all friends and old students to come and help them out.

The W. B. U. club was reorganized three weeks ago, and since then have been a very busy aggregation. They have already organized the school orchestra which is coming to the front rapidly.

They also organized their present football team and are working every night to get into shape for their games. Next Saturday they play the Tomah Indians at Tomah, and are confident that they can defeat them worse than the High school did. The W. B. U. team is very desirous of getting games with both the High school and Normal teams of this city. A game by home teams would not only draw a larger crowd but would be much more profitable to both teams. Not many years ago the W. B. U. football team drew the largest crowds ever had at the ball grounds. They are willing to accept games with anybody and at any place. The students are playing under strict rules, it being necessary to be up in their studies before they can take part in any games of any kind.

Two weeks from Friday night the W. B. U. club will give their Holloween dancing party and the students are already making special efforts to make this successful as the party given for Halloween last year. The W. B. U. hall will accommodate one hundred and twenty-five couples, and last year it was packed to its utmost capacity which shows that when the W. B. U. club gives a dance or party of any kind it delivers the goods.

COUNTRY CLUB

Mr. Gysbert Van Steenwyk entertained at a luncheon of ten covers at the Country Club.

The Misses Emma and Louise Gund entertained at a luncheon of fifteen covers Monday.

Mrs. Jessie Holway entertained at a luncheon today at the club in honor of Mrs. Argyle Scott of Billings, Mont.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

The Ladies' Society of the First Presbyterian church which was to have been entertained tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. W. S. Cargill, has been postponed on account of the aviation flight. It will be held next week at the same place.

Capt. and Mrs. George Perkins, who have been visiting at the home of Captain Perkins' father, Mr. E. G. Perkins, will leave tomorrow for Fort Adams, R. I.

Mrs. C. L. Veits and daughter, who have been spending the summer visiting friends in La Crosse and vicinity, left today for Wichita, Kas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pennell of Atchison, Kas., are guests of Mr. F. P. Hixon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koppelberer, a daughter.

The Rebekkahs will hold a card party at their hall on South Fourth street Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. McGrath entertained at coffee Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Howard of Lockport, Ill. The Misses Laura Clements and Irma McGrath assisted in serving.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Norwegian Lutheran church will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers Thursday afternoon. The entertaining ladies are Mesdames E. Stavrum, J. O. Jorstad and Nels Thompson.

DALY LEADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—John Daly, world's champion three cushion billiardist, has a lead of eleven points over Alfred De Oro, the challenger, as the result of the first fifty points played last night. It took Daly 86 innings to finish out his fifty points. Daly played a steady game while De Oro's was brilliant only in spots.

The second fifty points will be played tonight and the final block tomorrow evening.

HOW TO PRESERVE SIGHT

The proper reading distance is twelve to fourteen inches from the eye. Always turn your back to the source of light when reading, or let the light fall over the left shoulder, so that the light may fall on the book or paper instead of coming into the eyes. When your sight begins to fail it is time to have your eyes examined. Properly fitted glasses are the only remedy. I fit and furnish glasses that are absolutely correct. Moderate prices. No drugs or medicine used in the eyes in making examinations.

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

YOU CAN HAVE HEALTHY HAIR

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. A Harmless Remedy That Makes The Hair Grow.

What a pity it is to observe so many people with thin and faded hair and then realize that the most of these people might have a fine, healthy head of hair if they would but use the simple "sage tea" of our grandmothers, combined with other ingredients for restoring and preserving the hair. No one, young or old, need have gray hair, weak, thin or falling hair, dandruff or any trouble of the sort if they would but use Wyeth's Sage and Surphur Hair Remedy. On the contrary, it is possible to have healthy, vigorous hair, of perfect color, by a few applications of this remarkable preparation.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, promotes the growth of the hair and restores the natural color of the hair which has become faded or gray. It is a clean, wholesome dressing, which may be used at any time and with perfect safety. Don't neglect your hair. Start today with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

BREWERS REFUSE TO ADMIT DRY SPEAKER

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—When Arthur Burrage Farwell, reformer and leader of the prohibition movement in Chicago, reached his office today, he found there a letter from Percy Andrea, president of the International Brewers' congress, notifying Farwell that he had been black balled by the congress, to which he sought membership, as an "improper person."

Farwell, author of the prayer said in most Chicago churches for Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, who refused to resign as honorary president of the congress, wanted to join the congress that he might expound his temperance views to the brewers, who didn't care to hear them at all.

"While you undoubtedly would, among other things, receive a lesson in courtesy and good breeding if you were to attend the meetings of the congress, the terms of your application themselves disqualify you," read Andreas' letter to Farwell.

The prohibition leader expressed great regret that he would not be permitted to hake the speech he had written.

FAVOR SALE OF MARKET SQUARE

Council Committee Votes to Recommend Action by the City Dads

Favoring the resolution that the present market square be sold the streets and alleys and judiciary committees last night decided to recommend its adoption to the council and if that body votes favorably on its bids for its sale will be received. If a sufficient amount of money is secured by the sale of the five lots on the market, a new piece of land for that purpose will be purchased.

Alderman Roellig, who presented the resolution at the last meeting of the council, advocated its adoption as strongly as did most of the aldermen before the session was over. He said that he had options on a half block of land lying on the east side of Third street between Cameron avenue and Cass street, which tract could be purchased for $18,200.

Mr. Roellig brought proof that from 1882 to 1887 the city had bought the five lots now making up the market square for $24,000 and it was the general concensus of opinion that between $55,000 and $60,000 could be realized from the sale of this property.

Until it was shown that several firms which would put up business houses there were after the land, Aldermen Kroner and Mahoney were not in favor of the sale but then practically all agreed that bids should be received.

That he will introduce a resoution at the council meeting Friday providing that automobiles be purchased for the chiefs of the fire and police departments, and that if approved the amount will be included in next year's budget was the assertion of Alderman Houska.

Several petitions for refunds on water rents were taken up by the judiciary and water committees, but they decided to be governed in these matters by the ordinances on those questions, and as it was asserted that carelessness in using water was responsible to a large degree for complaints, the decisions of J. T. Day were upheld almost entirely.

BLACK RIVER PUBLIC SCHOOLS MAY BE CLOSED

Fund Is Low and Only One Month's Payroll Is on Hand, Says the City Clerk

COMMITTEE TO CHOOSE SITE

Eleven Businessmen Appointed to Select Location for the New Business District

CITY IS GIVEN A BLACK EYE

Citizens Incensed Over Stories that It Will Not Be Rebuilt; Tomah Donates $1,000

With hardly enough money to meet the payroll for one month, the city of Black River Falls may be forced to close the public schools.

"Our school fund is near rock bottom," said City Clerk F. A. Parsons this morning over long distance telephone to The Tribune, "and unless funds from the outside reach us soon the city will undoubtedly have to close the schools."

Positive assurance that the city of Black River Falls will be rebuilt was given at a meeting of the council there last night when a committee of eleven business men was appointed to select a site for the new business district.

The committee will make its report to the council at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Citizens of Black River Falls are highly incensed over the story, given wide publication by one news association, to the effect that the city may never be rebuilt.

In a lengthy article in yesterday's Milwaukee Daily News, under a Black River Falls "dateline" they take occasion to resent the black eye given the city.

Case Not Hopeless

Following is an extract from the Milwaukee News' article and expresses the sentiment of the leading citizens of the devastated city:

"While the losses have been in many ways to many people very severe, still there is no reason for the hopelessness as to the future of the town that has been expressed in many of the dispatches that have found their way into print.

"The intimation or assertion has gone out that Black River Falls as a business point has been injured quite or nearly beyond recovery. It has been also asserted in dispatches that the country surrounding the town is unsuitable to the development of a business or trade center here and that such being the case the outlook for a business rehabilitation of the town is not good, owing to such alleged unfavorable environment. Such dispatches are by no means worthy of the facts and are very decidedly wide of the truth."

In another paragraph the article says:

"It is against such representation that revolt is made. Black River Falls in a business way, will be rebuilt, better, firmer and more enduring than ever.

Donations Generous

Citizens of Black River are grateful for the aid that is being received from outside sources.

The grand exalted ruler of the Elks telegraphed a check for $1,000 from St. Louis, it is said, and other cities, not only in Wisconsin, but elsewhere, have donated. Senator Isaac Stephenson is said to have responded to the appeal with a $600 check.

In La Crosse the work of raising funds was officially started today when the subscription lists were placed in the hands of every alderman and with the daily papers.

What is collected here will be sent to Black River Falls Monday.

Mayor Dengler this morning urged that everyone here who can afford to donate to do so.

"Black River Falls has been visited by an awful calamity," said the mayor. "Their business district has been almost totally destroyed while a number of residences have been swept off t he face of the earth, leaving a number homeless and moneyless on the eve of what promises to be a rigorous winter."

Tomah Sends $1,000

Following a meeting of Tomah citizens in the Armory there last night, at which a resolution urging the council to appropriate $1,000 for the rebuilding of Black River Falls and the aid of the flood sufferers there, the council, in special session, appropriated that sum which will be sent at once to Mayor J. J. McGillivray.

Subscription lists will also be prepared and will be circuated among citizens who desire to make further donations.

In a communication to Congressman John J. Esch Postmaster Samuel Lund of Black River Falls says that the city has an abundance of food but that financial aid is needed badly.

Mrs. Vilas Gives $1,000.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Anna M. Vilas, widow of former Senator William F. Vilas, today contrbuted $1,000 toward the fund for the relief of the floods sufferers at Black River Falls. The remainder of the people of Madison have so far contributed $12.

PROGRESSIVES IN CALIFORNIA WIN

Early Returns Show Overwhelming Majority for Initiative, Referendum and Recall

WOMEN CLAIM A VICTORY

Suffragettes Unwilling to Admit Defeat of Amendment Despite Early Reports

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Despite early returns from yesterday's vote on the proposed amendments to the California constitution, indicating the overwhelming defeat of the amendment extending the ballot to women, suffrage leaders early today claimed victory.

Returns at an early hour from more than one-half of the state showed 60,698 for the suffrage amendment and 63,589 against. The suffrage leaders declare that the sections to be heard from are rural communities which, they declare, are strongly favorable to the suffragette movement, and they believe these localities will more than overcome the lead gained by the "suffragettis" in the cities of the state.

Returns from the others of the eighty-three amendments voted upon yesterday, indicate that the initiative, referendum and recall, including the recall of the judiciary, have been overwhelmingly adopted. The voters also adopted the proposition for an appointive state railroad commission.

The closing of the Los Angeles campaign was made notable by the appearance on the platform of Mme. Lillian Nordica, the famous singer. Mme. Nordica expressed a desire to do some work for the cause and Monday night was sent out in an automobile, delivering several speeches to voters on street corners.

The victory of the initiative, referendum and recall at the polls is attributed to the campaign by Gov. Johnson and other progressive leaders for a month previous to the election.

The indications are that the recall swept every county in the state. Of the twenty-three amendments submitted, most of which were purely local, the indications are that all carried excepting possibly the suffrage amendment.

The progressives of the state declare this is a remarkable showing for the progressive policies and a big victory for Gov. Johnson.

They also declare it is a distinct rebuke to President Taft for his veto of the Arizona constitution which provided for recall of the judiciary.

$10,000 FIRE AT CALEDONIA TODAY

Millinery Shop Blaze at Noon Causes Disastrous Loss to Big Business Block

A fire of unknown origin discovered shortly after noon today in the millinery store of Miss Katie Hill at Caledonia, caused damages estimated at a total of $10,000 to the Union Hall building.

The extent of damages follows:
L. F. Deters, general store, $4,000.
Herman Deters, restaurant, $600.
Miss Katie Hill, millinery, $800.
Union theater and hall, $4,600.

The fire was not discovered until it had gained a good start, and it seemed that at first the building, which contains the three business establishments damaged by the blaze, was doomed. It is a large two story frame building, belonging to the Gorgen estate, and was erected in 1884.

Volunteers Fight Fire

The Caledonia volunteer fire department was called out as soon as the blaze was discovered, and after over an hour's hard work managed to check the progress of the flames. At 2 o'clock the fire was under control, although thick black smoke and flames were still shooting from the building.

The greater part of the damage in the millinery store and the restaurant, was done by water, although the flames partially destroyed the stock in the Deters general store.

Flames are Checked

It was at first thought that it would be necessary to summon aid from other towns nearby, as the flames were apparently beyond the control of the local department, and it was feared that they would spread to neighboring buildings which adjoin it closely on the north. The fire company, however, stuck with the blaze and kept streams on the adjoining buildings until all danger was past. No one was injured in the fire.

EXPRESS CO. AIDS BY SHIPPING FREE

Manager J. J. Rebholz, manager of the La Crosse office of the American Express company, was responsible for free shipping of relief to Black River Falls, it developed today.

Mr. Rebholz telegraphed the head office of the company immediately upon receipt of the carload from here and succeeded in having the shipping cost cut off. The same system has been pursued by the company in other Wisconsin cities sending aid to Black River Falls, it is said.

SEATTLE PLEASED BY HUGH ROBINSON

Tribune's Air-man was First to Make Good in Western City; Machine Acted Like Sea Bird

CARRIES MAIL FOR THE U. S.

Flies Across River at St. Louis with Letters in a Curtiss Biplane, the Latest Type

A newspaper article recently published in Seattle tells how the people of that city, after being repeatedly disappointed by the failure of amateur aviators, were delighted by the wonderful flying of HUGH ROBINSON, who will be the star of The Tribune's aviation meet at the Interstate fair grounds next Thursday, and who appeared in Seattle with an associate of the Curtiss school. The article says:

"Hugh Robinson, in a Curtiss hydro-aeroplane, and Eugene B. Ely, in a Curtiss biplane, gave a show on air and water that was the first of the sort seen in this state.

"When Ely made his first spectacular flight Wednesday afternoon, Seattle citizens, cynical, because of former fiascos, became convinced that they had at last seen a man who could 'make good.'

"When Robinson in his strange new craft left the water for the air and played about the shipping in the harbor they forgot all past disappointments in delighted surprise.

"The aeroplane may not yet have all the grace of the birds, but Ely, soaring hawklike, and Robinson sporting in air and water like a sea gull, gave the closest imitation of birds on the wing yet seen."

Has Always Made Good

There is nothing surprising about the experience of the people of Seattle, as a recent discussion of aviation records show. It quotes the achievements of the Curtiss organization as follows:

"The first publicly announced flight was made by a Curtiss biplane. The first aviation prize was won by a Curtiss machine. Since then by winning world's honors and by performing feats never duplicated by any other flying machine, the Curtiss biplane has been kept most prominently before the public. Again and again it has been proven that the Curtiss biplane could fly successfully when aviators using other machines remained on the ground because of the wind. In the Curtiss biplane were made the first long distance flights. The exploits of Curtiss and Robinson, Beachey and Hamilton certainly demonstrated the utility and capability of the Curtiss biplane. Ely's feats in flying from and landing on the decks of warships, proving the availability of the aeroplane as a naval auxiliary attested the accuracy and additional utility of the machine. How dependable the Curtiss biplane is, Beachey showed when he flew over the Falls, down the gorge and under the bridge at Niagara. Only last Sunday, Robinson at St. Louis, carried mail for the government between two states, gave a spectacular exhibition and concluded by flying beneath three bridges that span the stream."

Wonderful Evolutions

Curtiss biplanes have given exhibitions in over 200 American cities, flying at times when weather conditions were decidedly adverse. Many of these exhibitions have been highly spectacular. Thousands have watched with almost breathless interest the spirals, dips, rolls and glides of their daring aviators, of whom none has been more ambitious and successful than HUGH ROBINSON, performed in a manner that seemed to invite destruction. But, though the boldness of these maneuvers appeared to reach the apex of daring, they only demonstrated the comparative safety of the Curtiss biplane, for never at any of these exhibitions was there a fatality nor did an aviator in an accident receive injuries that prevented him from flying again.

HEYBURN ASSERTS LAW WON'T STAND

Chairman of Stephenson Investiation Committee Believes Wisconsin Law Unconstitutional

BURDEN OF PROOF IS APART

Under Interpretation It Would Be Necessary to Prove Bribery in Eacr Case of Money

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 11.—Senator Heyburn, chairman of the Stephenson investigation committee, speaking for himself todaly, said he believed the interpretation of the Wisconsin law that the mere giving of money to electors to be illegal, could not stand unless predicated upon corrupt motives. Under such interpretation it would be necessary to prove corruption or bribery in each case of money in order to establish any violation. Last week Senator Heyburn caused comment by saying he believed the law contemplated the construction that the mere giving, regardless a motive, constituted an offense, and this was the interpretation placed on the law yesterday by Senator Blaine. Senator Heyburn apparently regards such interpretation as unconstitutional.

Solon L. Perrin of Superior, attorney, who received $5,000 of Stephenson money, was on the stand all morning and questioned regarding his disbursements, but can give no detailed accounting for $3,000. He kept $500 for himself. He made no report until called on late by the state legislative committee. He denied any corrupt practices. Among witnesses sworn today were Attorney General L. H. Bancroft, who received $250 of Stephenson money.

Perrin was questioned losely about R. J. Shields to whom he gave money at various times to "electioneer."

"What constitutes electioneering with Shields," asked Heyburn.

The witness said certain people active for Stephenson after Shields saw them who were not before.

"Who were they?" asked Heyburn curiously.

"Mostly members of the Catholic church."

The witness said he could not account for a single cent of $3,000 of the money he paid out.

"Well, that was a rather spectacular campaign, with such sums of money flowing around unaccounted for, wasn't it?"

"Well, speaking in the vernacular, we had 'em going some."

Amid much merriment witness said he couldn't define or demonstrate "electioneering" in the courtroom. His home town would be better and a hotel lobby the ideal scene.

"You do not regard Mr. Stephenson as a trained politician?"

"No, sir."

Normal to Close.

Announcement was made yesterday by Supt. L. P. Benezet that the La Crosse public schools would close in the afternoon. This morning, Prof. F. A. Cotton, president of the La Crosse normal school, announced that the normal also would close.

Crowds from Everywhere.

Word from cities and towns on all lines is to the effect that there will be a general movement centering on La Crosse tomorrow, and that thousands of people will arrive in the city on the various trains. Railroads and traveling men say some of the towns will be practically deserted.

SEATTLE TRIES TO COMMIT MR. TAFT

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 10.—A committee of citizens yesterday presented President Taft a letter signed by 2,000 persons giving a statement of the movement for the impeachment of Judge Cornelius Hanford of the United States district court. The statement reiterated how the federal grand jury at Tacoma had refused to indict nine citizens of Washington arrested by order of District Attorney Todd, following a demonstration of protest against Hanford's ruling in the recent street car war.

The statement asked the president to investigate the case and to make a public statement of his opinion regarding Judge Hanford's action.

The president was warmly greeted when he spoke at the armory on Monday night. He discussed railroad legislation and his tariff bill vetoes. There was considerable disappointment when he failed to refer to the Hanford cases.

Twenty-one Lives Lost

On the night of October 10, 1910, an explosion turned the Los Angeles Times building into an inferno of twisted steel and flame. Caught like rats, the employes fought blindly to get out. Some succeeded, twenty-one died. Half a dozen fell one by one through an open place in the floor and their bodies were burned to a crisp. Others plunged blindly through the roaring flames and through open windows to death on the sidewalk below. Others clung to the window sills, shrieking for the life nets, until the flames burned their fingers to the bone and they went plunging to death, while hundreds of spectators groaned and watched the doomed men. They were powerless to help.

The prosecution will try to prove that John McNamara engineered and instigated, and James McNamara actually caused the Times disaster. its evidence will be driven home by Ortie McManigal, who is alleged to have confessed that he had done hundreds of dynamite jobs for John McNamara, receiving $200 for each, and that he knew of the plans to destroy the Times.

All this evidence the defense will combat with testimony to show that there never was a dynamite explosion; that leaking gas caused the wreckage; that the accused men are innocent, the victims of a gigantic plot which has for its object the branding of organized labor leaders as murderers and dynamiters.

Otis Accuses Unions

Every effort has been made to further this idea from the time that the Times, owned by Harrison Gray Otis, a bitter and vindictive enemy of organized labor, charged that dynamite bombs planted by labor had destroyed his newspaper plant, until the McNamaras were placed behind the bars of the Los Angeles county jail. Otis made this charge before the fire was out in the ruins of the Times. It has been repeatedly made ever since.

Next in the chain of events came the arrest of Ortie McManigal, John and James McNamara. The McNamaras were extradited from the east without being given a chance to consult counsel, and as a result Detective Wm. J. Burns, who ran down the accused while in the employ of the National Erectors' association and of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Los Angeles, and Detective James Hosick of Los Angeles, are under indictment for kidnapping.

The prosecution will have the legal and financial backing of a great state; the defense a great and brilliant array of legal talent and the financial support of organized labor, because organized labor wants to give the accused every chance to prove their innocence.

Before the trials are ended they will have cost close to a million dollars, will have consumed at least eight months and resulted in the examination of more than 400 witnesses.

BERT HALL SPEAKS TO LOCAL STUDENTS

Bert Hall of Milwaukee gave a short talk to the students of the high school Tuesday morning upon his work with boys of the streets. He told of his founding an organization for newsboys and bootblacks, and how students in school who have no definite aim in life, are laboring under great disadvantages. Mr. Hall criticized the American people in general and the American schools in particular for not being thorough in the work that they do. He also emphasized the value of making one's self useful to others as well as to himself.

HOW ROBINSON'S BIPLANE IS MADE

ash and spruce, the heavier and more flexible wood forming the core. An added feature of strength is found in the double trussing of the vital parts of the aeroplane, where the greatest strength is required. All the trussing is done with finely made cable of galvanized steel wire, tested to withstand a pulling strain of nearly half a ton.

The wing panels are made up with a light and strong wooden frame work covered with linen cloth especially made and treated for the purpose. The curved hibs are "built up" strongly by a system of trussing which gives them strength, and covered both top and bottom.

Light and strong bamboo rods extending to the front and rear of the main planes support the elevator, or forward horizontal surface, which acts as a rudder to steer upward and downward, and the rear vertical rudder and rear elevators and stabilizing plane. Front and rear elevators work in conjunction, so that as the front of the machine is directed up, the rear of the machine is depressed by the two rear elevators, each of which is controlled by an individual set of cables. Front and rear elevators are also used to maintain the fore and aft balance of the machine in flight.

Manipulation of the elevators and the vertical rudder is accomplished by a single steering post at the top of which is the steering wheel. Turning the wheel to right or left steers the aeroplane as a boat or an automobile is steered, while pushing the wheel forward directs the machine downward and pulling the wheel has the opposite effect. Every feature of the Curtiss system of control is in accord with the natural impulse of the operator.

To maintain the lateral balance of the aeroplane, there are small movable planes, or ailerons, attached to the ends of the main framework midway between the upper and lower plane at the rear. These ailerons are so arranged that as one swings upward the other swings downward at the back, thus giving an upward pressure of air under the one while the other is depressed by the air. This movement is controlled by a seat frame or yoke fitting around the shoulders of the aviator in such a way that he leans always to the high side of the aeroplane when it tilts in order to correct its balance.

The motors with which the Curtiss military and cross-country models are equipped are of the eight cylinder "V-shaped" type, developing 60 horsepower, and the propeller is attached directly to the motor shaft, thus doing away with gearing, which consumes power, increases the risk of breakage and decreases reliability. The speed of the motor is controlled by a throttle opened and closed by a movement of the left foot. The single propeller of the Curtiss machine is becoming universally recognized as very important safety feature.

The seat for the aviator is well forward of the planes, giving him a clear view not only ahead, but also straight downward. On the military model, a passenger seat is provided immediately behind the aviator and a little higher in order that the passenger may have a clear view over the operator's head.

The aeroplane is mounted upon a three-wheeled chassis built strong and rigid to withstand the shock of landing, the dangerous part of flying.

CROWDED TRAIN IS WRECKED; ONE DEAD

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 11.—The Rock Island special, between Malvern and Hot Springs, loaded with visitors to the state fair, struck a defective frog here today and the rear car was overturned.

Mrs. William Kilpatrick, Malvern, was crushed to death under the car. Mrs. S. B. Brewer, Malvern, lost an arm and S. B. Smith and his wife were probably fatally injured.

Purgatory may help a man to appreciate heaven, but what is there to help him apreciate purgatoy.

GRAND AVIATION MEET

World Famous Birdman Big Curtiss Aeroplane

BIPLANE FLIGHT AT THE INTER-STATE FAIR GROUNDS

LA CROSSE, WIS. THURSDAY, OCT. 12

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE LA CROSSE TRIBUNE

Glen. Curtiss, the most celebrated of aviators, guarantees flights at this meet, after his agent viewed the grounds to examine the conditions. The Trans-Mississippi Flight Association is halting its Minneapolis to New Orleans world record flight to give The Tribune the services of MR. HUGH ROBINSON, the most celebrated hydro-aeroplane and aeroplane racing birdman in the world for one whole day, next Thursday. This is positively the greatest aviation meet ever held in a city of less than 50,000 people. La Crosse is prepared to entertain visitors from a surrounding area of 100 miles. It's your first chance. DON'T MISS IT!

THRILLING GLIDES! DIZZY CIRCLES! DARING STUNTS! BREAKNECK SPEED

Positively the most sensational event ever held in La Crosse. If you have never seen an aeroplane in actual action, don't neglect to combine education, amusement and sensation in a visit to La Crosse Thursday, October 12.

LA FOLLETTE IN CUMMINS' PLACE

Progressives Ask Wisconsin Senator to Speak in St. Paul About November 1

WILL HOLD TWO MEETINGS

One in St. Paul and Other in Minneapolis; Clapp to Speak at Rochester Dinner

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 11.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin will appear in St. Paul at a big progressive demonstration about November 1. The meeting of October 30 has been abandoned because Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa was unable to be present, and instead there will be two public meetings, one in St. Paul and the other in Minneapolis. Following President Taft's invasion of the progressive territory, the visit of Senator La Follette, the opposing candidate for the republican presidential nomination, will be doubly interesting.

The date is unsettled and the details probably will not be announced until after the Chicago conference October 16, when northwestern progressives will meet Senator La Follette following the formal declaration of candidacy. It is hoped to get him here during the first week in November.

Go to Chicago

St. Paul and Minneapolis will be the meeting place of the progressives of the northwest October 14-15. From here they will go in a body to Chicago and give Mr. La Follette a rousing reception. Progressives from Montana, the Dakotas and parts of Wisconsin will meet here to go to the Chicago meeting, at which plans for the campaign will be outlined.

Senator Cummins was unable to come to St. Paul because of his health. The progressives have received word that his physician ordered him south, and that is his sole reason for canceling his date here.

While leading progressives believe Senator La Follette will announce himself at the Chicago meeting, they are not at all positive of his intention. They deny, however, that another leader will be chosen. It has been said that Cummins or a man less radical might be selected, but these rumors are denied by leading progressives.

Clapp to Speak

Southern Minnesota will be invaded this month by the progressive leaders and the First congressional district has been selected as a pivotal point. A banquet has been planned for October 10, at Rochester, with Senator Clapp as the principal speaker. This will be the opening gun of the progressive campaign in southern Minnesota. The First district, in which Congressman Sidney Anderson beat James A. Tawney, is looked on as the logical point to begin the campaign to capture the Minnesota delegation for La Follette.

10,000 MEN REPORTED KILLED IN BATTLE

PEKIN, Oct. 11.—A terrific battle between the rebel forces and the government troops, which resulted in the capture of the city of Yachau, near Chungtu, is reported in official dispatches.

After a fight lasting several hours the rebels repulsed the government troops and entered Yachau. They maintained perfect order in that city, none of the foreign inhabitants being disturbed.

The total killed so far as the result of the revolution, according to government dispatches, is: Rebels, 8,000; government, 2,000.

Necessity is the mother of contention!

La Crosse Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of La Crosse given below you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. Mary Scales, 1712 Market street, La Crosse, Wis., says: "I still consider Doan's Kidney Pills the best kidney medicine on the market. I have previously endorsed them through the local newspapers and at this time gladly do so again, for they gave me permanent benefit. There was much lameness across my loins and I had a tired, listless feeling. I was not certain that my kidneys were at fault, but when I read of the cures Doan's Kidney Pills were effecting in similar cases, I decided to try them. I got a supply at Erhart's drug store and the result of their use was gratifying. The backache and lameness was disposed of and the other symptoms of kidney complaint that had annoyed me, disappeared. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills worthy of the highest praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FLOUR PRICES SOARING

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The cost of living is going to receive another boost upwards in a few days according to developments in the market here today. This time it is flour that is going to soar in prices. The explanation given by the producers is that Great Britain, France and Germany have placed such enormous orders for flour for export that the prices must necessarily be raised in the home market.

THIRTY DIE IN BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—The official report of the revolution in progress in the northern part of Mexico states that thirty rebels were killed and seventy wounded in a battle between the revolutionists and federal troops at Chipia de Corzo.

Expert Medical EXAMINATION AND CONSULTATION FREE

I want to talk to every sufferer. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit and are skeptical does not discourage me in the least; nearly all of my patients tell of this same experience. I am curing men and women every day and feel sure I can do the same for you. I especially solicit the stubborn, chronic, seemingly incurable cases. Persons who realize the seriousness and gravity of their condition, and will appreciate benefits conferred and the cure I give, come to me for free consultation. I will then explain how different, better and more curative are my methods of treatment than those possessed by others. My special training and long years of experience in treating all Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Pelvic and Special Diseases give me many advantages over the average physician.

I treat Rheumatism, Enlarged Veins, Fistula, Piles, Constipation, All Rectal Diseases, Weak and Unhealthy Kidneys, and Lingering Ailments.

I personally attend everyone who applies for treatment at my office, as I have no incompetent hired doctors to unskillfully treat my patients, and every man who engages my services gets the benefit of the efficiency that has marked my success in the past.

I have cured thousands, many of whom had been given up for lost. If your physical system has been impaired, if your vitality is assailed from overwork or worry, if you are tainted by disease in any form, you owe it to yourself to seek and obtain a restorative power at once.

MY COUNSEL WILL COST YOU NOTHING, BUT MY CHARGES FOR A PERFECT CURE WILL BE REASONABLE AND NOT MORE THAN YOU WILL BE WILLING TO PAY FOR THE BENEFITS CONFERRED.

LADIES CONSULT A SPECIALIST If you are suffering from persistent Headache, Pains in the Back, and feel as if it were impossible for you to endure your troubles and still be obliged to attend to your household and social obligations, I will cure you if you trust yourself to my care. I have treated and cured a great many.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Considerable of an upset was noted in the wheat trade today. Yesterday most of the news was bullish and the market closed at a good advance. Today most of the news was bearish and the buyers of yesterday were in a mild flurry to get out of their holdings. Prices sagged materially all morning, with free selling. The Liverpool cables were weak in tone, because of the disappointment in prices at Buenos Ayres.

The condition in the corn trade also were reversed today, buyers of yesterday taking profits on an easier market during the morning. The chief cause of the heaviness here was the very fine weather map while the strong cash markets at outside points helped, to a small extent, to support the market. Trade in oats was of small volume. The easier tone in wheat and corn inspired some local pressure, though prices were not as low as in the other cereals.

Provisions opened a shade firmer, but the market developed an easier tone during the subsequent trading.

DAILY MARKETS

INSPECTION PROVES COWS TUBERCULAR

One cow out of a herd of twenty-seven proved tubercular, and another is under suspicion, following the inspection of the herd by Dr. B. F. Holmes at the stock yards of the Milwaukee road on the North side. The cattle were being taken to Sparta by a man who purchased them in Dakota, and stopped off here to determine if the cattle were diseased. Yesterday evening he left with the remainder of the herd, driving them across country to Sparta. The cattle car in which the herd arrived in La Crosse, was shipped to St. Paul yesterday for disinfection.

ATHENA

from its very nature appeals with particular force to the womanly woman.

When she picks it up, she realizes that she has found the underwear she wants. As she wears it, her opinion is strengthened.

Such daintiness, such perfect fit, such comfort without bulk, have never been combined in women's underwear previous to the manufacture of the ATHENA line.

One great point is that this beautiful, desirable underwear costs no more than the ordinary, ill-fitting underwear.

Daintiness, elegance, refinement without extra cost.

Without doubt ATHENA is the most desirable underwear we have ever sold for women, misses and children. Many styles and fabrics.

GIANTS FAVORED IN WORLD'S SERIES

Odds Are 5 to 4 on New York to Win; Demand for Tickets Is Still Increasing

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—With the interest in the world's series baseball games increasing hourly as the opening game approaches, numerous wagers on the outcome of the contests are being recorded. The Giants continue to be slight favorites at odds of about 5 to 4.

Applications for tickets continue to pour into the office of the New York club, where a force of clerks now working night and day is necessary to keep up with the mail. Approximately $200,000 has been received in checks for tickets. Today the tickets arrived from a printing establishment in Philadelphia and a force of clerks was put to work mailing them to persons whose applications and money had been accepted. So great is the number of applications, however, that it is thought some of the applicants will not receive their tickets before Sunday morning.

The time for making applications for tickets expired last night but today it was decided to accept further applications for tickets for the entire series. No more applications for tickets for single games will be received until the open sale of tickets that are left over begins.

Meanwhile Manager McGraw is giving his men a rest. Capt. Doyle, who twisted his ankle in the game yesterday with Brooklyn, did not report for duty and it is said that the injured member is doing nicely and that the second baseman will be in the lineup next Saturday. Catcher Meyers is being given a good rest, as it is up to him to catch all the games. He has not worked since last week. Mathewson, Marquard and Wiltse will not pitch before the world's series unless McGraw thinks they need a limbering up, and in that case he will send them in for an inning or two in the three remaining games with Brooklyn, which are to be played in this city.

WOLGAST AND WELLS FIGHT FOR $50,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A new high mark for the financial end of ten-round bouts was reached, when Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion of the world, and Matt Wells, the lightweight champion of England, were matched to fight the latter part of this month for a purse and moving picture privileges that will amount to at least $50,000.

Wolgast is to receive not less than $22,500, and Wells will receive nearly $22,000. Of the total amount to be distributed, $25,000 is contributed by a moving picture concern for the privilege of taking the boys in action.

The battle will be staged at the old Sea Beach palace at Coney Island. A license will be applied for today, when the articles of agreement will be attested. According to the agreement, Wells will weigh 133 pounds at 3 o'clock. The date of the fight will be announced within the next few days.

VICE PRESIDENT SAYS 'ALL M'GRAW'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 11.—Vice President Sherman has the straight dope as to who is going to win the world's championship series—the New York Giants or Connie Mack's Athletics. "Sunny Jim" does not mind letting the secret out, and fans across the continent wonder today if the president of the senate picked 'em right, when he whispered that the proteges of Muggsy McGraw will confer the honor upon the Empire state.

Although an army of workmen is engaged in putting up new seats in Shibe park, Philadelphia, the Athletics' management has had to return $30,000 to the fans who wanted to witness the great series.

DIAMOND DUST

With only four of his regulars in The lineup, McGraw lost to Brooklyn 2 to 1. It took ten frames for the Infants to turn the trick. Recruit Maxwell, for the Giants, kept the hits well scattered.

Coombs, Plank and Bender pitched world's championship form, allowing the all-stars only three hits, which went to Cobb, Milan and Chase. Eddit Collins got three all by his lonesome.

Sunny Jim Sherman, who vice presidents when there isn't a baseball game to see, says the Giants not only will win, but will win in a walk. Playing for the down state vote?

The Reds shut out the Naps in the first game of the Ohio championship series. To Russ' work on his new grandstand, Herrman insists that all the rest of the games be played in Cleveland. Garry must think the Reds are going to finish as good as fifth next year. Else why would he want to enlarge his grandstand; it'll hold more people now than want to see the Reds lose.

The Chicago White Sox-Cubs series will draw like a magnet. Extra clerks are being engaged to take care of the applications for seats for the fray.

And the prospects are that Pierp Morgan will turn bottle blue when he hears how much the Giants' management will have to return through inability to handle the crowds.

Has anyone an extra pass to the Polo grounds they're not going to use next week? We'll be there and maybe the boss'll send us up to see one of the games. You note we said maybe.

Marcus Byers, quarterback on the normal football team, has been selected as captain. At a meeting held following the Normal-Sparta game, in which the normals put up a splendid game, Byers was chosen. IVORY RECORD BROKEN

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 11.—By playing 27 hours, 46 minutes and 3 seconds, Harry A. Bennett today broke the world's record for "long distance" work on the piano. During that time, Bennett did not remove either hand from the keys. He fell exhausted.

BADGER SACK RUSH IS HARD ON SHIRTS

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Four hundred shirtless sophomores of the university of Wisconsin paraded around the capitol square and down State street yesterday afternoon in celebration of their triumph over 500 freshmen in the annual sack rush. The sophs captured nine of the fifteen stuffed sacks.

The rush was a repetition of the struggle in past year to rid the contestants on both sides of shirts and sweaters. The lower campus immediately after the fight bore convincing testimony of the success of this plan. The field was strewn with rags of every color and description, remnants of hundreds of shirts and not a few trousers, and with here and there a stray shoe for someone to garner for a college room souvenir.

One luckless freshman qualified for title in fee simple to the Garden of Eden. A raincoat was rushed from the crowd and afforded protection enough to come within the law.

The freshmen were distinguished by hideously painted faces. Ninety policemen, selected from upper classmen, and armed with billy clubs, did effective duty in regulating the rush. They were headed by Clifford B. Bullis, '13, of Eau Claire, one of the tallest men in the university. The other extreme was represented by Kim-Tong Ho, '13, a Chinese student. The freshmen football candidates were on the field in togs but were not permitted to mix in the fight.

Fraternity houses were the scene of many exciting incidents throughout the afternoon, sophomore members using every method to keep their freshman brothers from entering the fray later in the day. To this end they locked the freshmen in the basement, tied them to the bedposts in their rooms, and at the Psi Upsilon house cached one on the roof, from which the victim dropped thirty feet to the ground, unhurt. Another scheme, which worked well, was the use of automobiles to take freshmen several miles into the country where the boys were left tied hand and foot by the roadside. It was left to ruralites to release them. By the time they found their way back the rush was over.

COACH WATCHES GOPHER TACTICS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 11. — To the absence of Captain Howe is atributed today the poor showing of Yale's varsity football team against the scrubs yesterday. The latter tore through the university eleven almost at will and were prevented from scoring only by a fumble.

Assistant Coach Stringer Brooks is at the University of Minnesota today studying the famous shift formations used there.

BUILDING COLLAPSES DOZEN ARE CAUGHT

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—A six-story building at Hanover and Battery streets collapsed shortly after noon yesterday. At least half a dozen are thought to have been killed.

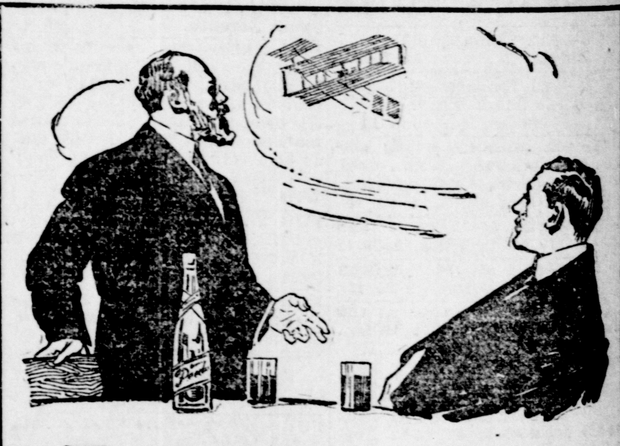

STRIKE SITUATION QUIET.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 11.—Quiet reigned along the borders of the striking camps today. No announcement has been made by Governor Noel as to the success or failure of his schefe to bring about a conference between the governors of the fourteen states affected by the strike, and it is said here that before this meeting can take place the strike will have ended amicably.

Doyle of the Giants, and McInnes of the Athletics are injured, but it would take a broken back to keep either one out of the big series.
